

Shelby Brauckmuller, Pro

Shelby Brauckmuller, 2020 Florida Women's Mid-Am Champion, is a professional golfer, residing in Florida. Shelby is working at BackSwing Golf Events while she trains professionally to make it to LPGA Tour. She graduated from Marshall University and University of South Florida.

Shelby, one of the top golfers from Florida, competed in many prestigious events before she began her professional career. Shelby participated in the 2020-2021 United States Women's Amateur, won the Florida Women's Mid-Amateur Championship in 2020, and finished T27th at the 2020 Women's Western Amateur. While at Marshall University, where she played collegiate golf, Shelby was named 2019 All-Conference USA Second Team, and 2018-2019 Conference USA Golf of the Week.

While growing up playing golf with her dad, Shelby found the love for the sport that led her from junior golf to professional golf. With so much passion for the game, Shelby wants to make a difference in her community while pursuing her dream. Joining the team at BackSwing Golf Events will allow her to do just that.
